

STUDIO

58

The Beginning

- The building which now is occupied by Studio 58 was once an early original home built by Edward Burkhardt in 1894. One of the oldest homes in Chesterfield.
- After many occupants some residents and some businesses, the property was purchased in 2023 by Jim and Marci Hennessy and revitalized (using the same original footprint) to become a music studio.
- After 3 years, many iterations and designs, and countless hours of issues with the city and county, we have completed our studio which we have named Studio 58.

Our Purpose

- The general purpose of Studio 58 is to allow those that look to play their instrument, a quality space to do this, as an individual or with a group.
- All will be welcomed, from seniors looking to get together with friends, to young musicians looking to meet the right people to build out their musical aspirations.
- We are outfitted with a full set of acoustic drums, electric keyboard, amplifiers, microphones, and all the cords and stands to accompany. Literally, you can come in, grab a guitar, plug in and play.

Recording Capabilities

- Studio 58 was designed with the help and support of Billy Engle (EarStudios) and member of several bands here in St. Louis (BillyE3, The Deal and several well-known others). Billy has been a musician and sound engineer for more than 50+ years and has played with countless musicians of professional levels.
- Billy designed and built a recording studio based with Presonus StudioLive 32SX equipment, JBL sound and Presonus Stagebox networking. We are on a Mac platform and use StudioOne software.

We are an easy Getaway

- Halfway through our building process, we visited the Factory to watch the Steve Hackett show. While enjoying the show, I thought, what do these great entertainers and musicians do with their off time, especially in the Chesterfield area. That is when I thought, maybe they would like a place nearby, that they can relax, play and record if they want to, and be close in case they are needed back on set. What about spending their day at Studio 58?
